ABSTRACT

This bibliography lists 40 reports and journal articles on personnel supply and demand issues, models, and data sources in the field of special education. The first section lists general materials on assessment of personnel needs, teacher supply and demand, teacher retention and attrition, and supply and demand of leadership personnel. Six publications on state special education data collection and reporting systems are then listed, followed by a list of sources for national data on teacher supply/demand. Each listing includes author(s), publication date, title, and publisher or journal title. A list of publishers or suppliers and their telephone numbers concludes the bibliography. (JDD)
